DELIGHTFUL TRIP

To the Orient by a West Virginia Newspaper Man.

THE EXPERIENCES ON SHIP BOARD

The Only Unpleasant Feature—in a Points Touched Enroute to the Holy Land—The Bermudas Where Flowers Were in Bloom in February—A Visit to Gibraltar—Drive Through Malaga—Many People Known in This Community.

Special Correspondence of the Intelligencer.

MALAGA, SPAIN, Feb. 19.—We sailed from New York, February 6, on the good steamship "Erisland," H. E. Nickells, captain, for a 13,000 mile cruise to the Bermudas, the Azores, and the noted cities of three continents bordering the Mediterranean sea. One of my boyhood dreams was to take some such a trip and see for myself three things—the pyramids, the scenes of the bible stories, particularly the place where the boy David had his fight with Goliath, and lastly to see nightingales, hear the song the poets rave over and test for myself whether it is any sweeter than that of our common West Virginia catbird, when he is doing his best. Accordingly an early resolve was that the first money I earned and could see my way clear to spend in travel should go into such a trip, and now the dream is being fulfilled.

Life on an ocean steamer is not what it is sometimes painted. We had a prosperous start from New York, the waters smooth and the air clear and bright, but intensely cold, registering 5 degrees below zero. Things became squally the next day and a more complete change from dignity to abandon I have never seen. Of the four hundred and thirty passengers less than thirty escaped seasickness. The wind during the night is said to have amounted to a cyclone. Waves washed over the promenade deck and on one tremendous lurch crushed two of the lifeboats suspended there. When the ship is at rest these boats lie thirty feet above the level of the water. It is a distressing thing to see many people seasick and all the more so when you have to join them. On man who had made five or six visits to the railing and each time made a fearful noise in upheaving, was greeted with laughter and encouraged with mock advice from the crowd. It was unkind, but the poor fellow was too sick to care, and the crowd wanted something to get their minds off their own miseries. Shortly after 5 o'clock those remaining on deck were driven in a great wave upsetting the steamer chairs and their occupants in a heap. Mr. Taber, of New York, was driven with such force as to have his leg broken in two places, and another man had his eye badly injured. A kodak view of the water-borne and disgusted ladies at this time would shock their friends on shore. The waves were a magnificent sight, the bottle-green crests dashing into foam and spraving over the fore deck or changing the hills or hollows of amethyst to blue.

THE BERMUDAS.

On the 9th we arrived at the Bermudas. The islands in living green before us were remarkable in brightening up the dejected passengers. The drive to Hamilton, twelve miles over coral roads, past fields of potatoes, onions and Easter lilies, banked by oleander bushes, palms, citron, oranges and bananas, with roses, geraniums, hyacinths and other flowers in full bloom, was a veritable paradise to those who three days before were shivering in New York's blizzard. The houses are all made from coral, whitewashed each year by order of the government, and a cleaner place cannot well be imagined. The potable water is collected from the roofs into cisterns. Great Britain owns the nineteen and one-quarter square miles comprised in the 365 islands, and will continue to hold her strategic point against all comers. No American can land without swearing allegiance to her majesty the queen. The population all told is about 15,000. One may doubt the reputed fertility of the soil until he sees it, and then he is inclined to adopt the queen of Sheba's words, "no half was never told."

Pittsburg has twenty-two representatives in our party, the largest delegation from any one city. Sewickley, Washington, Allegheny, Monongahela City and East Liverpool are also represented, and would swell the "Greater Pittsburgh" contingent to over forty. I have met all the Pittsburgh Timers, Rev. Dr. J. H. Bower and Fathers Tobin, Trantovine and Bigham. Rev. C. S. Lucas, of Pittsburgh, has been laid up most of the time with grip. From the "Rolling-Poly," printed on board, and of which I have the honor to be one of the editors, I learn that thirty-three states are represented, Pennsylvania leading with twenty-five and West Virginia and California bringing up the rear with one each. Several former residents of West Virginia, however, are credited to other states. Rev. J. H. Lorie, of Baltimore, and Miss Edith Symington, of Richmond, Va., being natives of Charleston and Rev. Dr. Hammer, of Laminaton, N. J., was a former pastor at Parkersburg. James S. Stocking, of Washington, Pa., George Hamilton, of East Liverpool, George E. Senbrink, of East Palestine, and Isaac Yoho, Jr., of Monongahela City, are among my neighbors. Rev. Dr. W. E. Jacobs, of Clinton, S. C., Rev. Reed Stuart, of Detroit, and Mr. Stocking are my roommates. Mr. Stuart is a native of Mountsville.

GIBRALTAR.

We spent the 18th at Gibraltar, the key to the Mediterranean and Great Britain's possessions in India and Africa. It is a compact limestone or marble rock 1,450 feet high at its highest point, is three miles long, about six miles in circumference, and in a shape not unlike a gigantic lion. It has a harbor at present of 5,000 soldiers, but there are stores and water cisterns that would supply 150,000 men for two years. The rock is literally honeycombed with tunnels, has 2,000 cannon and a mine between it and the neutral territory, which on being exploded, would convert it into an island.

Together with Dr. Pugh, I tramped all day. We were shown through that portion of the rock visitors are permitted to see, watched the red coats drilling, visited the beautiful Alameda and an English school, talked to some of the boys who know a good deal about London and England, but apparently had never heard of America, sampled the ware of a Spanish dairyman as he drove his goats from door to door, went into a blacksmith shop and inquired as to wages, talked with various soldiers, visited the bull ring and the irrigation works in the neighboring Spanish town, and did various other things. One of the soldiers with whom I talked told me his name was Jimmy Connor and that he was mighty glad to see people from America. He said he once worked in New York and a year ago stole his way across to England as a stowaway and enlisted in the British army. He was nineteen years of age, was sick and tired of Gibraltar and wanted to be back in America but was turned down for seven years longer. His tribute was sincere when he said America was the best country under the sun and the people were sympathetic to everybody.

ABOUT WAGES.

He had always worked when he could get it, and even on a strike could get free lunch and beer. He couldn't do anything like that at "Gib." In America he could get from $1.25 to $2 a day, while in the army he got 9 pence, (18 cents) a day and board. There was another "Yankee" on the rock named Cayle and they often wished they were back in America. In a number of instances on the trip I have obtained from the men themselves figures as to wages and they uniformly indicate better pay and conditions in the United States, as maintained by the protectionist. I am indebted to Color Sergeant Neary for information regarding soldier life and the charting of the great rock. The customs officer told us Great Britain spends $1,000,000 annually on the fortification and gets no revenue from it.

The governor of Algeria claims that Gibraltar is only "loaned" to the English, but Spain would prove but a pigmy in attempting to collect. "Tommy Atkins," as we found him, was neat and trim and very obliging.

THE ITINERARY.

Our itinerary includes Granada, the Alhambra, Algiers, Malta, Alexandria, Cairo, Pyramids, seven days at Jerusalem, etc., Caifa, Beyrout, Rhodes, Smyrna, Constantinople, Athens, Messina, Naples, Pompeii and Rome. I will probably come home via Florence, Venice, Milan, Florence, Paris and from London by steamer New York, arriving about April 13.

An interesting mock trial, a lecture, a literary entertainment, a dance, and the "Rolling-Poly" have been some of the diversions on shipboard.

I hold a letter of introduction from Mr. James Archer to Rev. Dr. William Harvey and associates at Cairo, Egypt, and shall hunt them up if time permits. Dr. Harvey and wife, Miss Anne G. Thompson, and Rev. John Griffin and wife, all from Harrison and Belmont counties, Ohio, are located at Cairo as missionaries under the appointment of the United Presbyterian church and are all related to Mr. and Mrs. Archer. Our brief stay at Gibraltar did not permit a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Barclay, formerly of Brooke county, now at Tangier, Africa. Mr. Barclay is United States consul there.

We had a fine drive to-day through Malaga, but through Spanish red tape were not permitted to start for the Alhambra. Will start to-morrow morning by railroad, a ride of nine hours.

JAPAN AND KOREA.

Their Relations Explained by Secretary Matsui—The Reforms Demanded by Japan Are Beginning to Manifest Themselves.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—A new secretary to the Japanese legation at Washington, Mr. K. Matsui, has just arrived here, having been transferred to his post at Seoul, Korea, where he recently passed through the exciting events by which Korea, precipitated the war between Japan and China. The trip from Seoul to Washington, with a short stop at Yokohama, has taken about two months.

Mr. Matsui is one of the keen young men, speaking English fluently, who are distinguishing Japan for her diplomacy as well as her military powers. "The Koreans were suspicious and fearful at the outset," said Mr. Matsui, "but Japan had come to conquer and absorb them, but they have gradually come to realize that the enlightened reforms suggested by Count Inouye, Japanese envoy there, are for the advancement and modernization of Korea. He is well equipped for this work, as he signed the first treaty of peace and amity made with Korea nearly twenty years ago, and was again concerned with that country in 1894. But the work of reform is very slow, and it will be years before the country will emerge from the darkness inherited from China. The latter country has long claimed Korea as a dependency, and Chinese conservatism has been impressed on the country. There are about 2,000 Chinese at Seoul, and there, with the outer Chinese influences, have kept Korea in the old ways, and have prevented contact with the outside world.

"But the reforms urged by Japan are beginning to manifest themselves. The king and queen, as well as the cabinet, consult Count Inouye and concede largely to his judgment. He is frequently summoned to the palace, where the king personally questions him for advice on the conduct of affairs. The king is a just and fair man, although perhaps lacking in force of character. The queen has marked executive ability and her influence is felt by the ministry. She is by far the first woman in Korea. The reform has brought about an increase of the cabinet from six, as it was before the war, to ten, the same as Japan's cabinet. The new cabinet includes ministers of finance, foreign affairs, war, justice, public works, education, etc. All of the ministers are native Koreans. They have little or no aptitude for social organization on modern lines.

"The finances of the country are very bad. There is a lack of money for public work. The currency is of ancient form, and so cumbersome that the strongest men could not carry more than $10. There is no navy. The army is meager, with several Americans serving as instructors. They have modern rifles and some Krupp guns, but they have been allowed to rust, and the soldiers cannot handle them effectively. The Korean army and about 1,200 Japanese troops were sent against the Tong-Haks, and the rebellion was about suppressed when I left. The Tong-Haks are made up of two elements in the south of Korea, one a religious sect, and the other a class of brigands and robbers—in all about 70,000 people. The leaders brought the rich men to the towns, and forced them upon pain of death to give up their money. The brigand element joined in the general extortion and pillage. Depredations, murders and cruelties occurred. The Japanese and the Korean troops subdued the outbreak. The Tong-Haks fought with crude weapons, but hundreds of them would fly before a squad of twenty trained Japanese infantrymen."

NEARLY 2,000 KILLED.

The Japanese Take New Chwang After Some Desperate Fighting.

HIOHSHIMA, March 7.—A dispatch from General Nodzu, dated Hai Ching, March 4, says that two divisions of the Japanese army assailed New Chwang proper at 10 o'clock that day, and entered the city at noon. A portion of the enemy's forces fled to Yen Kow, the New Chwang settlement. The remaining Chinese troops made a stubborn resistance, occupying the houses of the city. Some desperate street fighting followed and the Chinese were completely routed by 11 o'clock at night, leaving one thousand nine hundred killed upon the field. The Japanese captured five hundred prisoners and sixteen guns, together with a quantity of munitions of war and colors. The Japanese loss was two hundred and six killed and wounded.

A later dispatch says that at 8 o'clock on the morning of March 4 a force of 10,000 Chinese, under Gen. Lung, advanced upon Taping Chang, but were repulsed by the fire of the Japanese artillery. The Chinese retreated before noon. The Japanese sustained no loss.

New Chwang is one of the treaty ports on the Gulf of Pechili, above Port Arthur. The town has been occupied by the Chinese as one of the bases of operations against the invading Japanese, and it appears that the latter, reinforced by the troops from Wei-Hai-Wai, have at length managed to occupy the place, which is one of the first of the treaty ports to fall into Japanese possession.

LI HUNG IN FAVOR.

TIEN TSI, March 7.—The emperor has completely vindicated Li Hung Chang from the charges that were brought against him. His majesty confesses that after trying other men he has found that Li Hung Chang alone is trustworthy. Therefore, he grants to Li Hung Chang the fullest powers to treat with Japan for the restoration of peace. The central government publicly assumes the entire responsibility for the condition of the national defense, which is the result of blindness on the part of the Chinese to the progress of other nations. This action of the emperor places all future reforms in the hands of Li Hung Chang.

PROBABLY A FAKE.

The Story that Mexico Will Adopt Retaliatory Measures Toward Us.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 7.—The press dispatches received from El Paso, Texas, to the effect that efforts are being made to induce the Mexican government to adopt retaliatory measures against the United States for having abolished the free zone privileges, was shown the treasury officials to-day. So far as they know the Mexican government had offered no objection to the resolution while it was pending in Congress, and now that it was the law of the land it would be strictly enforced. The regulations for this purpose are now being prepared, and within the next few days customs officers at all of the ports of the United States will be notified that foreign goods intended for the "free zone" will no longer be received for shipment in bond.

JUDICIALLY RECOGNIZED.

Mrs. Ballington Booth, of the Salvation Army, Authorized to Officiate at a Wedding.

CINCINNATI, March 7.—To-day two officers of the Salvation Army appeared before Judge Ferris, of the probate court, and made application for a minister's license for Mrs. Ballington Booth to enable her to officiate at a wedding to be celebrated soon at their temple in this city. It was a new question. The court could find no strict statutory authority on the subject, but under the policy of the law which encourages wedlock, the judge said he would grant the license. By so doing the Salvation Army is recognized as a religious congregation, and Mrs. Ballington Booth, one of the most widely known women of the world, as a minister of that order.

Not Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 7.—Neither the state department nor the Spanish legation here have any confirmation of the reported demand for the recall of United States Consul General Williams at Havana.
